CEMENT ON 173Stearns Has Contract for Leveling Right-of-Way

Cement pouring on the 200 yard gap on route 173 at Hickory was started today by the Mehlahn Construction Company, contractors. Grading was completed yesterday and forms for the cement were laid.

This is the stretch that proved troublesome on account of deep peat beds, but after considerable work on the part of contractors and the three year period of settling the grade seems in perfect condition for paving, it was reported.

Stearns Levels Right-of Way
James Stearns, Antioch dredging contractor, Tuesday began the work of leveling dirt along the right-of-way. Thousands of tons of muck and peat were raised when the contractors sunk solid material to the bottom of the beds several years ago. Removal or leveling this dirt was included in the Mehlahn company's contract. It was sublet to Stearns.

WILLIAM J. STRATTON

Former Secretary of State, who gained a national reputation for conducting his office at less expense in proportion to the amount of business transacted than any similar department in any other state in the union.

Holding office during the nation's most critical financial period when over 600 Illinois banks closed their doors, it was found that Secretary of State Stratton had used such rare judgment in selecting depositories for state funds that not one cent either of interest or principal of state money was lost. He paid into the state treasury every penny of public money that passed through his office, an amount exceeding $30,000,000.

Stratton is now a candidate for state treasurer, and his record as secretary of state should be sufficient reason for his election to this important office. It is to the interest of every taxpayer, regardless of party politics, to see that he is elected.

Stratton was born in Lake county and has lived here all his life. He was a member of the county board of supervisors for 14 years. Gov. Frank O. Lowden appointed him state warden in 1917, and later he was promoted to the position of director of the state department of conservation. He was elected secretary of state in 1928.

Friends of the Ingleside man are predicting victory for him at the polls November 6. Although defeated for re-election as secretary of state in the Democratic landslide of 1932, Stratton was an easy leader among Republican candidates of the state, even topping the vote received by Franklin D. Roosevelt for president. This year Illinois' voters will not have before them the influence of a presidential election and it is not a far stretch of the imagination to predict that on Nov. 6 all G. O. P. candidates will fare much better at the hands of voters in Illinois, normally a Republican state.

The parade will be open to any boy or girl of grammar school age, the only stipulation being that they come masked. The parade will form at the grade school at 6:30 o'clock, and headed by a vagabond band the marchers will proceed to the theatre where the picture "30-Day Princess" will be shown together with other short features. The program will be shown Thursday night also.

The parade will be in charge of Principal Ralph Clabaugh and grade school teachers.

Only children who are in full costume will be admitted free to the show. It does not matter what kind of a costume it is as long as it is complete and does not consist of merely of a mask or a painted face.

In the interest of safety no lighted jack-o'-lanterns will be allowed in the theatre and all lights will be extinguished at the door. Inside the theatre prizes will be awarded for the best costumes in the various groups, including the most artistic, the most original, the most comical, etc.

Police protection will be provided by Chief Petersen and his aids to insure the safety of the children and to make sure that nothing interferes with a safe crossing from one side of the street to the other.

The program is being arranged to provide the children with a supervised Halloween program and to substitute an evening of enjoyment for the more questionable methods of celebrating the occasion.

Hotel Waldo in Antioch is still under lease to Mr. Waldo but will remain closed until March 1st when the Waldos will return to take charge of the local hostelry.

Dr. Brown Ordered
Back To Joliet

The state supreme court last night ordered Dr. Spencer Brown returned to Joliet prison to continue a term of ten years to life in connection with the $1,000,000 Werner Bros. Safety Deposit Co. robbery of 1923, it was stated in the Chicago Herald and Examiner today. Brown had served a term in Leavenworth prison, but upon his release some months ago he was seized and placed in Joliet on a state charge in connection with the robbery.

The court decided Circuit Judge Clyde H. Thompson at Pontiac had no authority to order Brown released on a writ of habeas corpus. Brown was seized with $24,500 of the robbery loot.

The ceremony was performed at the Channel Lake home of the former mayor. Only relatives and close friends attended.

OF FIRE DEPARTMENTFiremen Discuss Plans for
1935 at County
Meeting

James Dunn, former village treasurer and long a member of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department, Tuesday night was inducted into office as president of the local association, succeeding Robert Wilton who has succeeded the organization during the past year.

Clarence Shultz, secretary, and George Garland, treasurer, both re-elected, were also installed in their respective offices for the coming year.

Attend County Meeting

Several Antioch Firemen were in attendance Monday night at the October meeting of the Lake County Firemen's Association in Waukegan. The meeting drew delegates from every one of the 21 volunteer and paid departments in Lake county.

Already Lake county firemen are making plans for the 1935 convention of the Illinois Firemen's Association which is to be held in Waukegan some time in October. The session was awarded to Waukegan last week at the annual convention held in Granite City. The annual meet draws about 500 firemen from all parts of the state. Four cities vied for the 1935 meeting, but Waukegan was the overwhelming choice of the delegates by 217 votes, while Joliet received 40, and Danville 16.

Pekin, a contender in the earlier lobbying, had withdrawn in favor of the Lake county seat when the vote was taken.

The delegation from Antioch included Chief James Stearns, Herman Rosing, Irving Elms, and the appointed delegates—Clarence Shultz and Lew Van Patten.

Chief Stearns, formerly a Milwaukee fireman, drew applause from the spectators at Granite City when he was the first to climb to the top of a 105 ft. McGurk's ladder during the stunts program of the firemen.

More Late Blossoms
Are Reported Here

Almost unbelievable but true—lilac bushes and apple trees were in profusion of bloom in this locality this week. Seven lilac bushes were in full blossom at the R. S. Winship estate on Fox Lake a few days ago, it was reported, and Friday Mrs. Henry Hunter of Antioch brought to the News office a great bunch of apple blossoms. At his Cross Lake home Sunday morning, Charles Martin picked a large bouquet of bridal wreath.

Such rarity of late blooms, however, is not entirely unknown here. Just forty years ago this week apple blossoms were found in great numbers throughout Lake county, according to newspaper reports of four decades ago, when residents experienced a very dry year.

Chicken Canning to Be Demonstrated on Nov. 1

Miss Glenna Henderson, foods specialist from the University of Illinois, will give a demonstration on the canning of chicken on Thursday afternoon, November 1, at 1:30 p.m., at the Farmers' Hall at Grayslake.

Many women have been asking how to can poultry. The canning of poultry at this particular time makes it possible to not only save the feed which would be given until the fowls were used but also saves fuel in the matter of cooking.

This is an open meeting and anyone who is interested is cordially invited to attend.

George Phillips, state employee at the Dixon hospital, is enjoying a few days visit with his family here this week. When a friend remarked to Phillips that he had taken on a little extra poundage since last seen here, George answered he had been feeding on butter that Candidate Stelle's downstate creameries had been selling to the state of Illinois. He got his information from the last edition of the News.

Henry Horner, governor, ought to know Phillips better. The gov. is looking for a man who knows all the right answers to the embarrassing question the Republicans persist in asking. George knows them all, and he's so good natured about it, too.

TO THE RESCUE

1,500 See Candidates
At Cedar Crest ClubState G. O. P. Speaker
Lauds the Work of Stratton

Fully 1,500 persons attended the Republican rally at Cedar Crest Club Friday night, where they heard a brilliant address by E. J. Higgins, a downstate speaker, praise the work of William J. Stratton, former secretary of state, now a candidate for state treasurer on the Republican ticket.

The county candidates were introduced: Judge Perry L. Persons, Councillor and each spoke briefly. They are Clerk Lew A. Hendee, County Superintendent of Schools, W. C. Petty, Allen J. Nelson, candidate for county treasurer, John R. Bullock, county recorder, and Lawrence A. Doolittle, for sheriff.

The country is held in its present state of suspended animation by fear and uncertainty, according to Ralph E. Church, candidate for congress from the tenth district.

"Remove this fear and clear up the uncertainty by sane and sound methods, and the nation will start promptly on its way to its rightful place at the head of the world's economic and industrial procession," declared the popular Republican Congressional candidate.

Among other things Church says that if he is elected to Congress, he will do everything in his power to safeguard the individual rights of every man, woman and child in the United States, and that he will urge Congress to resume immediately all of its legal duties and powers as our representative law-making body.

Mr. Church and Supt. Petty arrived late at the meeting, because of previous engagements, and some of the big crowd did not hear them speak.

FREDERICK PEARCE
DIES AT HIGHWOODWas Well Known in Western Lake County. Buried at Antioch

Frederick Pearce, 74, passed away at his home in Highwood, Ill., having spent the greater part of his life as a farmer in the vicinities of Lake Villa and Spring Grove. Mr. Pearce was well and prominently known in western Lake county.

He was born in Westroyland, England, Feb. 1, 1870. He came to this country when 20 years of age.

He is survived by his wife and three children, also a sister who lives in England.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Highwood and interment was in Hillside cemetery, Antioch.

William Anderson and son, Billie, and their guests attended a Century of Progress Thursday.

STATE VEGETABLE
GROWERS TO MEET
NOVEMBER 20-22

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 25.—Protecting Illinois 12-million dollar vegetable-growing industry from "counterfeit" certified potato seed will be among the important problems to be considered at the fourth annual meeting of the Illinois Vegetable Growers' Association to be held at Rockford, November 20 to 22, according to L. A. Somers, vegetable extension specialist at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

The organization with its membership of more than 1,600 vegetable growers is expected to take a vigorous stand against the distribution of potato seed in bags bearing the word "certified" as an imitation of the official seal of genuine certification.

Successful tomato production practices will also come up for discussion when the convention will be addressed by Walter A. Marion, of Columbus, Ohio. He is a former president of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America and is recognized throughout the country as an authority on tomato growing.

Harm Dresnes, of Detroit, Mich., one of the leading plant geneticists of the United States, will be among the prominent out-of-state speakers to appear on the program. Other problems to be considered by the delegates will include the possibilities of garden irrigation and the control of vegetable diseases.

The convention will be presided over by Emmett Orr, of Rockford, president of the state association. Other officers are August Geweke, of Des Plaines, vice president; John Wenke, of Peoria, secretary; and Reinhardt Boehle, Sr., of Chillicothe, and C. E. Durst, of Champaign, members of the executive committee. L. A. Somers, of the U. of I. agricultural extension service, is cooperating in the preparation of the program.

Noted Pastor and
Editor Visits Antioch

Dr. Thomas H. Nelson, former pastor of the Grace Episcopal church in Zion, Ill., was in Antioch Tuesday interviewing local churchmen on relief matters. Dr. Nelson was formerly editor and publisher of the "Ram's Horn," a religious publication that will be remembered by the older people throughout the country. Now he is publishing "The Citizen" at Zion.

Dr. Nelson believes that the relief measures now being carried on by the various governmental agencies are the salvation of the country and he is anxious that they be continued.

He deplores the system of finance that has resulted in 5 per cent of the population of the country possessing 95 per cent of the wealth, while the other 95 per cent of the population struggles along on 5 per cent of the money.

STATE G. O. P.
ADDRESSES OPEN
LETTER TO VOTERSParty Seeks Majority in House to Stop Kelly-Nash-
Horner Machine

A Republican majority in the lower house with its resultant election of the speaker, will stop the extravagant expenditures of Illinois taxpayers' money and put a stop to the waste of state funds by the Democratic bosses in Chicago, according to an open letter to the voters of Illinois sent out this week by the Republican State Central Committee.

"All fair-minded citizens should have the facts before them on election day," the letter states. "Votes should be given to such candidates for congress and for state offices as will refuse to do the bidding of the Chicago Tammany group." The letter is signed by Justice L. Johnson, state chairman, and is printed in full here-with:

"In the primary election of 1932, the nomination of Henry Horner was forced upon the Democratic party in Illinois by the Cermak-Kelly-Nash Democratic machine of Chicago. The following November he was elected governor of Illinois.

"Immediately following his inauguration Governor Horner, under the direction of the Cermak-Kelly-Nash group, began exercising the appointive right of his executive office for the purpose of setting up a powerful Democratic machine in Chicago for the domination and control of the political affairs in state government.

"He appointed, from Chicago, the six directors of the state administrative code departments of finance—of public works and buildings—of insurance—or conservation—of public health—and of labor. To other Chicagoans he gave the chairmanship of the state commerce commission, reg-

Heart Attack Is
Fatal To Dr. LowePhysician Dies While Driving His Auto Near Antioch

A heart attack caused the death of Dr. J. A. Lowe, 67, veteran Pleasant Prairie physician, who died in his car while returning from a professional visit last Tuesday, according to the verdict of the Lake county coroner at the inquest held at the funeral home of Ed Larner in Antioch.

Dr. Lowe was accompanied at the time of his death by his assisting nurse. As the car approached Hickory Corners Dr. Lowe complained of sharp pains. He brought the car to a stop and slumped over the wheel. The nurse secured help as speedily as possible and summoned Dr. David N. Deering of Antioch. The doctor pronounced Dr. Lowe dead upon his arrival.

Following the inquest here the body was taken to Milwaukee and cremated Thursday.

He had been a practicing physician in the Kenosha county community for 31 years, and was widely known throughout southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois, and had hosts of friends, both personally and professionally.

Born in Canada

Dr. Lowe was born near Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, September 16, 1867, and came to the United States as a youth. He graduated from the Bennett Medical college, in Chicago, in 1902, and came to Pleasant Prairie to establish his practice in 1903. He in Kenosha county since that time, had resided and practiced medicine.

He is survived by his wife, Inez, and one daughter, Mrs. R. H. Veale, of Parlin, New Jersey. He is also survived by one granddaughter, Frances Veale, and a niece, Madge Fletcher, who made her home with Dr. and Mrs. Lowe.

THE FACTS OF UNEMPLOYMENT

A little over a year and a half ago, Franklin Roosevelt became President of the United States. If, at that time you had asked a representative group of citizens what the most burning problem of the hour was the chances are that about eight out of ten of them would have answered, "Unemployment." There were many other problems and issues—but the fact that some 13,000,000 men were unable to find jobs overshadowed them all.

During that eighteen months the federal government, guided by Mr. Roosevelt, has spent billions, passed extraordinary and unprecedented laws, tried a series of daring experiments. Yet today, unemployment is still the most difficult problem the country faces, and very little progress has been made in alleviating the plight of the jobless.

Best estimates say that the number now unemployed is slightly over 10,000,000. That represents a decline of 3,000,000 from the high touched in the spring of 1933—but even so, the problem has been solved to the extent of only 25 per cent. And the remaining 75 per cent looks much more difficult of solution.

Donald Richberg has said that 20,000,000 people will be on the relief rolls during the coming winter. Some authorities place their estimates higher than that. The greatest drain on the country's resources is imposed by people who, for the most part, are unable to find the productive work they want. Critics who still talk about the possibility of our accepting the dole system are behind the times—the dole, in principle if not in name, is established now.

These are the facts of unemployment. When it comes to the theories, there are on unlimited number—most of them impractical, some of them impossible, all of them unproven. It is believed the President feels that a future step must be the 30-hour work week. However, he has said little about it of late, and has resisted efforts to bring it into existence through legislation. He knows that business is finding the going hard, would probably be unable to meet the additional expense that shorter hours would cause.

THE ROOTS OF FARM PROGRESS

Unprecedented reports from many agricultural areas indicate that an increasing number of farmers are becoming dissatisfied with political farm relief.

That is not entirely the fault of relief measures, the promises held out were too rosy. Thousands of farmers with or without reason expected the immediate creation of Utopia and when that didn't happen they were bitterly disappointed. Such relief efforts, no matter how sincerely or wisely they are carried on, are doomed to at least partial failure, because political considerations inevitably appear, and often outweigh practical considerations. Again, all political parties hold power for comparatively short times, and there is always the chance that they will be supplanted at the next election. As a result, they cannot plan for the "long pull," but must seek to speed up the action of economic law—something no one has yet done successfully.

It is possible that our farmers are coming to see that their best chance for relief lies in their own efforts. They have the instrument of progress ready at hand—the Farm Cooperative. It is permanent. It is non-political. It does not have to seek temporary benefits at the expense of permanent good. Farm legislation is passed and is replaced, administration comes and goes, but soundly established Co-ops remain.

Out of the farmer's own work, reflected in cooperative actions and policies, will come real and permanent farm progress.

EFFICIENCY—AT THE EXPENSE OF LIBERTY
In a recent address, Edward Howard Griggs of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, commented on the many economic advances made in Italy under the dictatorship of Mussolini. He then said: "It will take Italy a hundred and fifty years to get back that freedom she had before Mussolini, if she gets it back! I think that is a tragic price to pay for economic efficiency."

This is the point of view that should govern our thought and our actions in these troublesome times. Plato wrote that the way to get the most efficient type of government was to appoint a tyrant, and give him unlimited power and a free hand. At various times in world history that has been done—and in exchange for efficiency, the peoples of the nations subjected to tyrannical rule have lost all freedom, all liberty—all that the great humanitarians have fought for. Victory over economic adversity was dearly won.

Today, all over the world there is an undoubtedly trend toward dictatorship. Of all the great nations, we only, with the exception of England, have been at all successful in maintaining democratic principles. And there is greater danger that in our haste to better our lot economically, we will permit the weakening or destruction of those principles—that, in seeking efficiency in the routine of living, we will lose our freedom.

Nations cannot be governed now precisely as they were a century ago—but the basic principles of individual, industrial and governmental conduct that obtained then are as true as they ever were. Necessary change can be effected, not at the expense of those principles, but with their aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Irving and sons called on Mrs. O. Andersen of Mill-to ship refrigerated cars of meat in the 70's. The only ice machines they had were ponds and a prayer for cold weather; and that didn't work so well in the South. Though it is rumored that in 1871 an ice plant was built in New Orleans, from which ice was even imported into the north.

The great change in the food buying habits of the nation came in the 1890's. Cities were growing. The tempo of life quickened. Housewives no longer wanted to spend hours and even in some cases days preparing a single dish or meal. In response to this demand, changes in food selling habits appeared rapidly. Fully automatic can-making machinery first appeared in 1885. Thereafter canned foods became an important part of the grocery business. Breakfast cereals were invented that came ready to serve. Oats for oatmeal first, then gradually the myriad wheat and corn cereals that one sees today.

Rector's Restaurant which opened in Chicago in the 1880's proved to a disbelieving world that oysters packed in ice could survive a trip to Chicago. Home soap-making disappeared overnight before a superior manufactured product. Every one of the 200-old A & P stores began to carry extracts in response to demands of the customers.

By 1901 the changes progressed far enough for the Ladies' Home Journal to write, "In these days you can buy almost everything partly or wholly cooked." However, the development of ready-to-eat foods, that so excited the ladies of 1901 was hardly the beginning. Growth, since that time, of food preparing technique plus growth of well organized distribution systems not only made prepared foods available to everyone, but also fresh fruits and vegetables and good meats available the year round at low cost, and made the modern meal a matter of minutes not hours.

Designating Labor Day
On June 28, 1894, President Cleveland approved a bill designating the first Monday of September in each year, the day celebrated and known as labor's holiday, "a legal public holiday to all intents and purposes as Christmas, the first day of January, the 22nd day of February, the 30th day of May and the Fourth of July are now made by law public holidays."

Naming Wall Street
Wall street owes its name to Peter Stuyvesant, who in 1653 as governor of the little Dutch settlement of New Amsterdam ordered a palisade built on the site to protect the town from invasion of the English. The last of the wall was removed in 1690 and both sides of the street were quickly built up.

Why They Are Kisses

The small crosses or 'x's were at one time more important than as symbols indicative of youth's innocence," writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. Their origin dates back to a time when few people could read and an even fewer number could write. Nevertheless, wills and other public documents had to be signed somehow, so those who were unable to write merely made their mark. The solemnity of affixing one's signature to such binding agreements led, in a highly religious age, to making such marks in the form of a cross that the signer would kiss at a pledge of good faith and as an act of reverence. Thus the cross on paper became associated with the kiss.

The "Keystone State"

On the Fourth of July, 1776, the Continental congress convened in Philadelphia to vote upon adoption of the Declaration of Independence and thus decide whether the thirteen colonies should secede from the British empire. Before the Pennsylvania delegation arrived, notes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times, twelve states had voted, with the result that six were in favor of independence and six were opposed to separation from the mother country. When the Pennsylvanians came in, John Morton cast the deciding vote for independence. Thus Pennsylvania, by its vote, decided the great issue and rightly earned the popular name of "the Keystone State."

ADJUSTING BANKING TO CHANGING NEEDS

By ROBERT V. FLEMING

Vice President American Bankers Association

BANKERS recognize that changing conditions require new methods of doing business. However it is their responsibility to retain those essential and sound financial principles upon which this country was founded and has grown to be what is still the richest nation in the world.

Many of our difficulties have arisen from lack of confidence and from misunderstanding.

Therefore it behoves the banker to bend every effort to create a better public understanding of sound banking and thereby bring about that united effort and cooperative spirit which will hasten the day of national recovery and restore to the banker the confidence of the public to which he is entitled.

As an approach to the realization of this ideal, bankers should carefully scrutinize every application for a loan to see if it is bankable and, if it is not in bankable form, then make further examination to see if the loan can be made so, in order that the uses of credit may be stimulated.

Explaining Loan Factors to Customers

We must not expect our customers to be bankers and understand all the factors which we must consider before granting a loan. If we find that a loan is not, and cannot be made, bankable, then I thin' we should take pains to explain to the applicant the reasons why it cannot be granted.

There are other measures which I think it important for the banker to undertake in order to eliminate the misunderstandings which have arisen and overcome the sentiment which exists.

Under present conditions we have to operate under many laws and regulations, and also watch what further legislation is being proposed which affects our methods of operation and may not be in the best interest of the communities we serve. Nowadays it seems at times we must sit with a law book in one hand and a book of regulations in the other in order to make certain we are discharging our daily duties and functioning strictly in accordance with the law. All of this is very trying, yet I think in the end we shall become better bankers.

I believe it is the duty of every banker today to endeavor to understand the public he serves. In addition to his daily duties, trying as they are, he should participate in the activities of his community, so that, with the fund of information available to him, he may be as helpful as possible in all public and civic matters.

COMPTROLLER COMMENDS INSTITUTE OF BANKING

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The American Institute of Banking, said to be the most successful project of its kind in the field of applied adult education, has performed a valuable function in training bank clerks for "sound public service as well as personal success."

J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, said here in a recent radio address. The institute is a section of the American Bankers Association.

"While imparting useful knowledge, it has improved the morale of banking personnel and has stimulated in its members an intelligent interest in national and international monetary problems," Mr. O'Connor said. "Its courses cover a wide field in banking.

Among the subjects, one finds Bank Organization and Operation, Commercial Law, Negotiable Instruments Law, and Economics, in the Pre-Standard Division; followed by such subjects as Money and Banking, Credit Management, Financial Statement Analysis and Bank Management, in the Standard Division.

"Each and every subject is one which is necessary to a knowledge of banking. However, the institute does not stop here, but encourages graduate study in Corporation Finance, Trust Service, Farm Credit Administration and Business Forecasting. Again it emphasizes in special courses the importance of the less technical but highly beneficial study of Constructive Customer Relations, Banking Fundamentals and Public Speaking. No comment is necessary on these courses; their value is apparent."

WILMOT GRIDDERS BEATEN AT WATERFORD

Louis Kunkel Dies in Montana; Is Buried Here Saturday

U. F. High School
Waterford defeated the Wilmot High School Friday afternoon 7-0 at a game played at Waterford. Waterford was in possession of the ball for the first half of the game and in the second quarter Edwards, their fullback ran around the Wilmot end and scored a touch down. He was their big threat throughout the game.

Wilmot had the advantage during the second half in first downs made. Mecklenburg, Wilmot quarterback, made seventy yards with the ball, when he caught Waterford off guard. Waterford fumbled two plays and gave Wilmot an opportunity to score but they did not take advantage of them. Bill Kowalek played a fine defense game, and Colignan was fine in defense.

Next conference game is with East Troy at East Troy on Friday afternoon. The last game of the season will be on the following Wednesday with Williams Bay at Williams Bay, on October 31.

"We're raided," he whispered; "let's get out of here, kid!" Suspicious, Elizabeth hesitated, but then saw several other men leaving hurriedly, and yielded. From the deck they saw a large police launch, filled with a raiding party, bearing down rapidly on the yacht. "Come on," whispered her companion, and half dragged her by the arm to where a small rowboat was moored.

Towing as quietly as possible, they moved stealthily downstream. Phillips, or whoever he was, bent to the oars powerfully and steadily, smiling reassurance occasionally at the girl. Somehow, Elizabeth's fear of him melted into a deep admiration. No man could have been more decent to her than this desperate gangster.

But what a story! If Blake didn't raise her for this, he was crazy. "I have to get a telephone," she exclaimed as the boat grounded.

"We both do," the stranger said grimly, helping her ashore. They strode down a deserted street to a corner drug store.

Fishing a nickel out of her purse, Elizabeth dashed into a phone booth, while the stranger waited for change. Blake was excited at the news. "The Gull club raided? Some break! Stay there until I send a man up." She hung up, exhausted, for she knew all the other morning papers had already gone to press.

As the letdown flooded over her, Elizabeth became dimly conscious of her companion's voice, talking into a phone in the next booth. She started, and suddenly became rigid with astonishment.

"Hello, Evening Star?" he was saying; "this is Ben Baker of the feature section. Phillips' clothes did the trick, all right. Even his girl friend didn't spot me! And did I get a story!"

Plays Important Part In Daily Needs of Transportation

BIGGEST ALUMINUM CASTING EVER MADE FOR A DIESEL ENGINE.

A feat deemed impossible only a short time ago has just been accomplished by the Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corporation of Detroit with their completion of several aluminum castings for big compression-ignition locomotive engines, commonly known as four-cycle Diesels. Commenting on this accomplishment, president Charles B. Bohn states:

"Ordinarily this casting, which comprises the engine frame and the water jacketing all in one unit would be made of iron and would weigh over 3,000 pounds. By making it of aluminum alloy the weight is reduced to 1640 pounds. The metal used in this big casting is a particular heat-treated alloy specially designed for high-stress service."

"This new casting should prove of inestimable value to the whole transportation industry as, undoubtedly it will contribute a not inconsiderable share towards the present insatiable desire for speed with an actual gain in economy and endurance."

As bright as any in her class But her marks were always low!

It took a wise mother to discover that poor lighting conditions were responsible for her lack of interest in home work.

HERE wasn't a pupil in the whole grade any brighter than Betty. But she hated to do homework. And her marks were always low. Betty's father said, "She's just lazy." But her mother was wiser. She visited her nearest Public Service Store and got from them a marvelous little device called "The Lighting Tape Measure." When she measured Betty's study lamp with this she found it only gave her from $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ as much light as she needed. A simple change of bulbs made all the difference in the world. And now Betty studies without a bit of coaxing.

What correct lighting is Experts estimate that in two out of three homes, some member of the family suffers from the wrong kind of lighting. To protect eyes you should have from 20 to 30 foot-candles of light falling on the printed page. It should be properly diffused with no glare, no deep shadows, no contrasts to cause eyes to change focus frequently. Under such lighting eye tension is relieved. Your body relaxes. Your nerves relax, too.

Most women would be only too glad to protect the eyesight of their children. But they have no way of measuring the kind of light their lamps give. And so, night after night, eyes struggle on with danger of permanent injury.

How to get it

In the last few years some wonderful discoveries have been made about proper lighting. Lighting engineers have found that just by changing the position of shades, by raising or lowering the height of bulbs, and by designing a special kind of "light reflecting" shade, these handicaps to eyesight are completely overcome. Your Public Service Store has a variety of these properly designed lamps for sale. Come down and see them and at the same time learn, from our better lighting display, simple and easy ways in which you can improve the lighting in your home. And get Free, a marvelous little device called "The Lighting Tape Measure" which enables you to tell quickly whether or not each lamp in your home is providing safe light.

Which is YOUR lamp?

Lamp 1. Bulbs are too low, sides of shade too sloping. Result—glare, deep shadows, eyestrain.

Lamp 2. Bulbs at right height, shade of correct design. Result—restful light, precious eyesight protected.

FREE at your Public Service Store, "Lighting Tape Measure" to test your lamps. Get it today.

Eggs Are Food Of Great Value

Many Variations in Ways of Preparing Them for Table

Aside from their great food value as a meat substitute—and there is no egg of bird that cannot be eaten—eggs are general harmonizers in the kitchen.

They serve to thicken custards and sauces; to coating soups and jellies; to make a coating of crumbs adhere to foods which are to be fried; to puff up souffles; to enrich cakes, to garnish salads; and to emulsify oil into a smooth dressing for them.

Eggs make an excellent luncheon dish. Try some of the following recipes:

Coddled Eggs

This is the most digestible way to prepare boiled eggs. Have the water in the saucepan boiling hard, and in it put the eggs gently with a spoon. As soon as all are in, push the saucepan back from the fire, cover and let stand for six minutes, no longer. In this way both yolk and white are cooked to a custard-like consistency.

Ham Omelet

One rather thick slice bread, pour over it all the milk it will absorb. Let stand 20 minutes. Mash, add 1 teaspoon melted butter, 4 beaten egg yolks, salt. Fold in beaten whites. Cook slowly in covered spider with 2 tablespoons butter. When done fold and turn on platter. Serve plain or with mushrooms, Spanish sauce or fruit.

Sour Cream Omelet

To 6 beaten egg yolks add 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sour cream, beat well and add the beaten whites. Cook as usual.

Hard Cooked Eggs

Place eggs in cold water and heat the water gradually until it reaches the boiling point. Remove from the fire at once; cover and place on the back of the range, or in a warm place, for 20 minutes. Plunge into cold water, so that the shells may be easily removed.

Egg Souffle

Make cream sauce of 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons each of butter and flour, add 6 beaten egg yolks. Season. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup grated cheese and fold in beaten whites. Bake about 20 minutes. Start with hot oven, then lower heat.

French Scrambled Eggs

Toss one minced green pepper and 1 tablespoon onion in 2 tablespoons of butter. Add 1 cup peeled and cut tomatoes and let cook 15 minutes. Beat 6 eggs, add and cook to soft scramble. Season, put in serving dish and sprinkle grated cheese over top.

Eggs à la King

Melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add 1 teaspoon minced onion and $\frac{1}{4}$ green pepper in shreds, then add $\frac{1}{4}$ pound fresh mushrooms, 2 tablespoons flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ cups thin cream. Stir and cook, then add 2 beaten egg yolks, mixed with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cream. Add 8 hard cooked eggs, sliced. Stir carefully and last add 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Up and Down in Pedals and Pounds

LORA JANE BACCA, jovially plump, regards bicycling as the ideal reducer while Caroline Rankin, severely thin, looks upon it as the great builder upper. Therefore, when they set out from Los Angeles to attend the closing days of the World's Fair in Chicago, each rode a bicycle in support of her theory that it was not only the enjoyable but also the beneficial way to travel.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

SHOPPERS this week will find vegetables of all kinds plentiful, though prices are higher due to the advancing season. Eggs are much higher and butter somewhat more expensive, but meats are moderately priced.

Both white and sweet potatoes or yams represent outstanding values. Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and Brussels sprouts are particularly reasonable and low in price. Turnips, carrots and beets are dependable and cheap standbys. Iceberg lettuce is both fine in quality and cheaper than usual. There is an abundance of cheap pumpkin for Halloween.

Apples are plentiful and moderately priced, grapes and grapefruit are now, while melons have largely disappeared.

SAVE CHICKEN FAT

Carefully save all chicken fat for future use as it adds greatly to the cooking in many ways. It is delicious used for the shortening in cream sauces, for all frying purposes, particularly nice for onions for poultry stuffing, potatoes, and so on, and Southern Spoon Bread just would not be complete without a bit of chicken fat. It may always be used as a butter substitute in cakes containing molasses and spices and result in a lovely light cake.

Legend

An old Indian legend: When plants and animals were created they were told to stay awake and watch for seven nights. The first night nearly all the animals kept awake. The next night several dropped to sleep. The third night still more went to sleep. At last on the seventh night, only the owl, the panther and a very few of the animals still were awake. Therefore these have the power to see and move about in the dark. Even the trees went to sleep. Only the cedars, the pine, the spruce, the holly and laurel were awake all seven nights. For that reason they are always green.—The Earth.

Home Storage Pit Saves Root Crop For Winter Food

Serving crisp, succulent, home-grown vegetables throughout the coming winter months is easily within reach at no extra cost to any gardener who will take proper precautions in storing root crops, says J. W. Lloyd.

Beets, carrots, turnips, rutabagas, parsnips and salsify all lend themselves to easy winter storage, either in or out of doors, it is pointed out. The first four of these vegetables must be protected from freezing, while parsnips and salsify are not injured by low temperatures, if protected so that they will thaw out slowly after freezing.

Packing these crops in boxes with alternate layers of sand and then storing the boxes in a cool cellar is a satisfactory practice where relatively small quantities of the root crops are to be kept for early winter consumption, explains Lloyd. However, a longer keeping period can be insured by storage in outdoor pits.

Although the method is generally referred to as a "pit" storage, vegetables stored outdoors are usually placed entirely above ground in a well-drained location and are covered with layers of straw, soil and manure. After topping, the roots are placed in a conical pile on a four-inch layer of straw that has been spread where the so-called pit is to be made. A series of small piles is usually better than a single large pit, with best results being attained when not more than five bushels of vegetables are stored in one pit.

The pile of root crops is then covered with a four-inch layer of straw and just enough soil to hold the straw securely in place. Two inches of dirt will probably be enough for this purpose. At the top of the pile the straw should be allowed to protrude through the layer of soil for ventilation. With the approach of weather cold enough to freeze the first layer of soil, about four inches of additional earth should be applied. This will protect the vegetables from freezing during the late fall and early winter, but when severe winter weather threatens, the entire pit should be covered with a six-inch layer of straw manure.

Blend Chimney Color

Frequently, a chimney seems to cut a house in parts. It is important, in painting a small dwelling in an attractive color scheme, to make the chimney an integral part of the picture. It may be painted with either stucco or concrete paint.

Candles Drip

Due to some chemical change in the manufacture, candles of some colors, such as green and black, seem to drip more readily than other colors.

Breeding Age of Seals
The bull fur seal does not come to breeding age until it is about six years old, but the female becomes mature during her second year and by the end of her third year generally gives birth to young.

On November eighth and ninth, Thursday and Friday, the Junior Class will present a three act comedy, "Regatta," in the high school auditorium. This play will provide many thrills and exciting moments accompanied by an abundance of laughs for the audience. Just to mention a few things, there's a motor boat race, an aeroplane crash, and stolen plans. The only thing that has the class worried is the finding of a large bathtub. After the crash, which takes place over a lake, the aviators come in dripping wet, thus the necessity for the bathtub.

The price of the tickets is twenty-five cents for adults, fifteen cents for grade school children. Mrs. M. K. Phillips is directing the production.

Under the direction of Mr. Hans von Holwede, a most interesting musical program was given on Monday, October 22, in the high school auditorium. Numbers were presented by a four part girls' glee club and a girls' trio. The Misses Ruth Ona Nelson, Genevieve Newman and Jeanette Peterson were the soloists appearing with these groups.

The samples of the Junior rings are here and Juniors who wish rings are asked to order them from Mr. Keulen.

The Seniors will hold a dance Friday, November 2, for members of the Antioch High School. This is the second of the dances given by the Senior Class.

Nora Arnold, a senior, is recuperating at her home after an operation for appendicitis.

On Thursday night a group of high school boys accompanied by Mr. Rechers, the dean of boys, went on a hike. They hiked about two and a half or three miles. The boys had a weenle roast and some of them took along their musical instruments.

On Tuesday Mr. Kutil outlined a plan for a track meet for the boys. The track will be a cross country stretch of a mile and a half from the Bean Hill road to the high school. All boys who are interested in this will begin training soon.

Arranging for Schick Test.
Principal Ralph E. Clabaugh this week sent letters to parents or guardians.

"When your eyes rest, you rest," says the new Science of Seeing. The man in the picture is straining his eyes to read under a light that casts heavy shadows. After a hard day at the office, he is placing a further burden on his already tired body. What he needs, according to recent scientific discoveries, is better light both at home and at his office.

Plans of school children asking that they signify their approval for the test, which is being sponsored by the Antioch Parent-Teachers' Association.

- Last year, in a diphtheria immunization program a number of children were inoculated with toxoid provided by the State Board of Health. The toxoid was administered only to those children found not to be immune to the Schick test. The test is planned at this time to determine whether or not the children receiving the toxoid last year are immune from the disease. Dr. R. D. Williams, Antioch physician, will administer the tests.

Operated by Mouse Power
In the Nineteenth century, a man in Scotland perfected a machine that was operated by mouse power. Running in revolving cages, the mice manufactured sewing thread, twisting and reeling 20 feet a day, writes W. T. Hogue, Denton, Texas, in Collier's Weekly. The inventor was building a mill to use 10,000 mice when he died. Apparently he never realized the work involved in putting them in and taking them out of 10,000 cages each day.

AMUSEMENTS
Stage Show at the Genesee Sunday

The Sunday stage shows at the Genesee Theatre in Waukegan are proving extremely popular. Next week's vaudeville program promises to be most entertaining and is headed by the bigtime favorite Harry Burns. The new sketch "I Think You Touch" offered by Harry Burns, the famous Italian Comedian, is taken from the parts he played in Earl Carroll's Vanities. The laughs come fastened often from Harry's antics assisted by Virginia Sully, Helen Lockwood, and Tony De Luca. The Genesee Theatre management is most fast and often from Harry's antics who is one of the highest paid vaudeville stars in the business.

Sibyl Bowan is the clever impersonator of motion picture stars and is seen in her offering "Hollywood Hobbies."

Three other outstanding acts complete the stage show. The screen attraction is "Lady By Choice", starring Carole Lombard, Roger Pryor, May Robson, and Walter Connolly.
